

„Electronic music-style. I ain't gonna deal with no other business!”

In the beginning there just was this idea. Musically born in the early nineties, both “Dusk” and “Black Vel” have made their way from listening to recording to mixing this electronic music. With Dusk starting to organize parties around 1996 and Black Vel joining little later, they now look back at a decade of DJing, partying and friendship. This long term development allows “from dusk till black vel” an imaginative and more intuitive approach towards DJing.

Dusk started mixing deep minimal techno in 1995 whereas Black Vel's first gig in 2000 took him directly to the main floor at the local club named Kesselhaus. Dusk organized parties there and over the years both got to know and respect each other. One outcome of this growing friendship was the idea of forming a DJ duo which they finally did in 2002. For 4 years now they have been playing the national and international scene, promoting their idea of electronic music. Today's sets of “from dusk till black vel” are influenced by minimal and progressive sounds but never lose track of the joyous moment of loosing your mind on the dance floor.

Yes, musically they are constantly growing. But still there is the aforementioned motto: electronic music style. They are different because they know better. You will feel this. On the dance floor.
